long ceased from your mind, as it has from my own,
It has been succeeded by increased regard.

A Mr Termor, Editor of the Sligo Journal, who had a University Education, and early wished to enter the Ministry, is now panting for this, in consequence of Mr West's representations. He seems everything we could wish.
The Bishop of Salisbury's Nephew having gone to you has peculiarly rejoiced me. The Bishop seems well pleased, tho' at first it surprised him.

I am to have the young Man's Father & Uncle with me soon. The latter has subscribed 20 £ to the Church at Gamberi, and desired me to tell you never to be afraid of applying to him. I hope to send you a large packet either thro' Mr Wiggins (whom it is very long since I have seen) or some of the Irish Antismal Emigrants, or a Mr Reynolds of Baltimore, lately at Stoke Newington (where he has a brother, Dr Gaskin's Apothecary) who is now in England, His to return in October.

My dear Wife has been very ill with a serious Fever.

She is, I thank God, much recovered, and my Children (who have been ill, as well as myself) are quite restored.
I trust this may find you & yours quite well. There seems to have been some mistake about a letter from you to Mrs. P.

Valron & Stokes, or one of them. But, as they set out without having received your answer, they thereby evince the greater confidence in you. Adieu! my dear Friend. With our united best love & regards, I am ever very affectly yr
